Welcome to the musical playground

Here you can find new inspiration on how to give your melody the precise sound and groove that your are looking for.

All you have to bring, is your new tune and indicate which chord colors you prefer. The app will then show you multiple ways to accompany your melody with matching chords.

If you already have a clear expectation for the melody-tuning, you can enter this tuning, and then let the Composer suggest a number of matching chord progressions, that supports this tuning.

The list of chords and color-grouping

The musical playground lets you experiment with 21 different chords plus of cause the single-note melody tone. The chords are divided into 4 groups, to make it easier for you to compose melodies with only the chord-colors that you prefer. The groups have been given names that reflects the different moods that they represents.

Navigating the playground

The musical playground is centered around two panels. The Piano panel is used for entering your melody, and as the next step, you will enter the Composer panel that you will be using for all the composing and playing around. The Piano panel looks more or less like this:

The Composer panel has the layout shown below. Each melody note is represented by a single line. And for each line you can set your desired melody-tuning. In the upper right corner you can select which chord-colors you would like to use, when constructing the chord progression:
